

BLACK HILLS

Band Bio: Black Hills

From the heart of the North West UK, between Stoke and Stockport, Black Hills is a four-piece band blending the deep grooves of blues, the infectious rhythms of funk, and the heartfelt emotion of soul. Drawing on the rich musical heritage of their region, the band crafts a sound that's equal parts grit and groove—music that moves the heart as much as it moves the feet.

The Band Members:

Ant (Vocals/Guitar) - The soul of the band, Ant's powerful voice and soulful guitar riffs draw listeners in with every note. As a songwriter, he weaves raw emotion and storytelling into songs that feel timeless yet fresh.

Chris (Keyboards) - From shimmering organ tones to funky clavinet grooves, Chris's keyboard work is the glue that holds the band's sound together. His dynamic playing adds depth, texture, and a touch of magic to every performance.

Simon (Bass) - The master of the low end, Simon's bass lines are as funky as they are melodic. His rhythmic prowess lays down the foundation, creating irresistible grooves that drive the band's sound.

John (Drums) - John's drumming is the heartbeat of Black Hills, delivering tight, syncopated rhythms that pulse with energy. Whether it's a smooth soul groove or a hard-hitting funk beat, John keeps the crowd moving.

The Sound:

Black Hills is where alternaive soul meets bluesy funk. Think vintage vibes with a modern edge. Their influences range from soul legends of the past right up to contemporary artists carrying the baton of soul forward.

Live and Unstoppable:

On stage, Black Hills is a powerhouse, bringing their songs to life with electrifying performances and undeniable chemistry. Whether playing smoky clubs, packed venues, or outdoor festivals, they captivate audiences with music that's as heartfelt as it is danceable.

Rooted in the North West, inspired by the world, and driven by a love for the groove,
Black Hills is a band that proves great
