

Lucy Blu is a singer/songwriter that delivers feisty, relatable songs with her unmistakably rootsy and soulful vocals. Drawing influences from Country Rock, Americana, Soul and Pop, the resulting fusion is one that appeals to both traditional and commercial music fans alike. Lucy manages to channel a young Linda Ronstadt, with the attitude of Sheryl Crow, and the lyrical mastery of Kacey Musgraves, all while creating a sound and style recognisably original and her very own.

Entering 2020 saw Lucy pegged as “one to watch” by a number of publications, and despite the brief hiatus (along with the rest of the world), Lucy has hit the ground running in 2021, launching back into the music industry’s new landscape with adaptability and a renewed energy & focus.

Over the past 12 months, she has secured major festival appearances, including; The Long Road, Tennessee Fields and Buckle & Boots, supported major US artists including Royal South & Candi Carpenter, sold out London headline shows at The Sound Lounge and The Water Rats, amassed over 200,000 Spotify streams on her most recent release, received national and international radio airplay, and procured an entirely new fanbase over on TikTok. Her flame continues to burn and is ready to set the world alight in 2022!
